Rock It At Montana Tech's First Ever Teen Science Summit June 22– 26, 2009

Do you dream of going to space and exploring different worlds? Can you imagine the thrill of discovering life on another planet? Maybe you have watched our most complex machine, weighing in at 4.5 million pounds, be thrust into the orbit. It's all about rockets! Few experiences compare with the thrill of building and launching your own rocket at Montana Tech's Teen Science Summit.

This summer, Montana Tech is proud to present ROCK IT, the first ever Teen Science Summit. During this week long adventure you will become a rocket scientist: You will make predictions, collect and interpret data, and solve problems to design and build your own rocket which will be jetted off into the blue skies over Butte.

Join us from 9 am to 3 pm, Monday to Friday. Plan to have fun and let loose. The tuition for the week is only $100 and it includes lunch daily, mind-blowing rocketry, structured outdoor activities, a graduation ceremony, and most importantly FUN!

We want to see you at MontanaTech!
